The majority of items in our catalogue, of Australian issued MG's, SMG's & related items, are from the deceased estate of Roman (Ray) Jarosz 12/6/2010

Ray Jarosz of Ingleburn recently passed away from cancer & is survived by his wife Margaret & sons Peter and David.

Ray considered he was the temporary custodian of Australian Military history for the future generations. "If you did not have private collectors, we would not have the Power House museum & other museums." "Anything made today was historical tomorrow".

Ray's knowledge of Australian Military history was well known amongst collectors both here & overseas. He loved what he called the "hunt" of the missing piece to finish off & complete an historical item. Ray's love of Australian Military history has been noted in Ian Skennerton's books. He restored numerous field guns & items for the Australian War Memorial, the Artillery Museum at North Head, Ingleburn RSL Sub Branch & the Ingleburn Heritage Centre. It should also be noted here that when the Infantry Centre Museum (now at Singleton) used to be in Ingleburn he was always providing support & collecting expertise to the then Curator before it moved to Singleton. The boys still remember going to Manly for "Working bees".

Ray was a keen collector of Australian Military history from 1800 to the present day including doing research at the NSW & Australian Archives assisting book writers with his research collected over the years.

Ray was a member of the Army Reserve for over 12 years with two years of this time as full time duty during the Vietnam War, based at Victoria Barracks, HQ Communication Zone. In 1969 Ray joined the Dept of Public Works & later transferred to Department of Defence, DNSDC, Moorebank, which later became Textoll & now BES Systems

Ray was a foundation & life member of the Victoria Barracks Museum, life member & ex committee member of the School of Artillery Museum, a foundation Treasurer & member & of the Arms & Militaria Collectors' Association of NSW & a member of the Military Vehicles Collectors Society NSW. During his time as a member of these organizations he had been on Firearms Consultative Committees for various Police Ministers of NSW especially whilst they were negotiating the new legislation in 1996 & ongoing legislation discussions.
